

Plate 87 from Lacépède, Histoire Naturelle des Poissons. Chladni met Napoleon in February 1809 at a Tuileries audience of the Emperor's family and a number of important scientists. These included the Count de Lacépède, like Chladni a fine amateur musician, and a zoologist who completed Buffon's Natural History. His Histoire Naturelle des Poissons in five volumes appeared between 1798 and 1803.

This plate is from the Brussels reprint of 1835.
